NIGERIAN PEOPLE'S & CULTURE

Topic: Nigerian People's & Culture

WEEK 10

IN SUMMARY

This week, you learned about the current realities in Nigeria, encompassing its multi-ethnic political landscape dominated by the All Progressives Congress (APC) and preparations for the 2023 general elections. Economically, you explored the challenges of declining oil production, inflation, and fiscal deficits contributing to rising poverty levels, despite high oil prices. The World Bank's growth predictions and persistent issues like low oil production and currency scarcity were discussed.

Nigeria's rich cultural diversity and its global contributions to pop culture, music, and film were highlighted, alongside challenges like religious and ethnic conflicts, political corruption, climate change, and a rapidly growing population. The lesson on pop culture detailed Nigeria's significant influence, particularly in the music industry, with historical waves of musical genres and a shift towards incorporating local languages and styles.

The issue of police brutality, particularly the Special Anti-Robbery Squad (SARS), and the subsequent #EndSARS crisis were addressed, emphasising the demand for good governance and accountability. The 2023 elections witnessed increased youth participation, influenced by the #EndSARS protests, although the overall voter turnout remained low, revealing broader electoral challenges. The lesson also underscored the political awakening among Nigerian youth, marked by heightened civic engagement and a call for significant change in the country's political landscape.

BULLET POINT SUMMARY

- Nigeria's political landscape is characterized by multi-ethnic diversity and was marked by a significant transition in 2023 as President Buhari completed his second term.

CASE STUDY

Title: Youth Political Awakening and the #EndSARS Movement in Nigeria

Introduction: Nigerian youth make up a substantial portion of the population and play a crucial role in the country's future. However, they have faced issues such as police brutality, economic challenges, and political disillusionment. The #EndSARS movement in 2020 highlighted these issues and marked a turning point in youth engagement.

Objective: This case study aims to explore the impact of the #EndSARS movement on Nigerian youth's political awakening and their increased participation in political activities. It will also examine the role of social media in mobilising and amplifying youth voices.

Methods: The study will utilise qualitative and quantitative research methods, including surveys, interviews, and content analysis of social media platforms. It will assess the level of youth engagement in politics, the factors driving their participation, and the challenges they face.

QUESTIONS TO PONDER

- Imagine the challenges and implications of persistent difficulties such as conflicts with Boko Haram, banditry, and separatist agitations on Nigeria's security landscape. How might these challenges impact the nation's stability?
- Why do you think the Nigerian economy hasn't experienced the expected boost despite high oil prices? What factors contribute to the economic challenges and rising poverty levels in the country?

SKILLS AND COMPETENCIES YOU HAVE ACQUIRED AFTER THIS LESSON

- Research skills: proficiency in conducting qualitative and quantitative research to gather and analyse data.
- Critical thinking: Evaluating the effectiveness of social movements like #EndSARS in driving political change.
- Communication skills: presenting research findings and insights effectively.
- Understanding youth empowerment and political participation: Insights into the factors driving youth engagement in politics
- Knowledge of the role of social media in political activism: Understanding how social media can amplify voices and mobilise movements

PERSONAL REFLECTION

Inspired by the Nigerian youth's political awakening and activism, how do you see yourself actively addressing societal issues and contributing to positive change in your community or country?
